

Sales & Marketing Intern

Baebies - guided by the vision that "everyone deserves a healthy start" - develops and commercializes products and services that enable early disease detection and comprehensive diagnosis for children. Baebies' products include SEEKER®, an FDA-authorized and CE-marked high throughput newborn screening platform, and FINDER®, a CE-marked low volume pediatric testing platform that is currently not commercially available in the U.S. Our mission is to save lives and make lives better for all children by bringing new technologies, new tests and new hope to parents and healthcare professionals worldwide.

We are looking for a sales & marketing intern to assist with aspects of multiple product launches.

What you'll be doing:

- Assisting in mining information and data from various sources
- Assembling and scrubbing CRM (customer relationship management) data
- Organizing information and data
- Providing marketing assistance/coordination
- Other duties as assigned
- Remote work available after brief in-house training

Successful attributes:

- Currently an undergrad with sales & marketing career goals
- Interested in learning about the medical device market, and newborn screening (testing newborn babies for life threatening/debilitating disease)
- Self-starter, sense of urgency
- Able to follow directions with minimum to moderate supervision
- Strong work ethic
- Able to devote min. of 15-20 hours per week
- Attention to detail
- Highly computer literate

To apply, please email Rick Peluso rpeluso@baebies.com with your resume.